

The first day

The first day of CalsMUN 2023 has already come to an end and we solemnly hope you enjoyed it, because we certainly did! The day started off with the opening ceremony, including interesting speeches given by the Secretary General Jurre van Rietschote, Dr. Brianne McGonigle, and Mitchell Wiegand Bruss. In between the speeches we had a wonderful musical act performed by De Dansfabriek. All in all, a great start to an even greater weekend! After the opening ceremony, all delegates went to their committee, and spent most of the morning getting to know each other through several icebreakers, and lobbying. In the beginning of the afternoon the committees went out for lunch, which gave every delegate a great opportunity to talk to other delegates and get to know them on a more personal level. We noticed new international friendships forming already! Following the lunch, many committees started their official debates. Today we witnessed some great resolutions, funny mock debates and great debating skills already, and we are excited to see more of it tomorrow.

Fighting Social Inequality; Let Your Voice Be Heard

This year's theme of CalsMUN is 'Fighting Social Inequality', but what is social inequality? Social inequality occurs when resources in each society are distributed unevenly, typically through norms of allocation, that engender specific patterns along lines of socially defined categories of persons. The major examples of social inequality include income gap, gender inequality, health care, and social class. In health care, some individuals receive better and more professional care compared to others. They are also expected to pay more for these services. Social class differential comes evident during the public gathering where upper-class people given the best places to seat, the hospitality they receive and the first priorities they receive.

Charity: Room to Read

This year's charity for which we will be raising money at CalsMUN 2023 is Room to Read! What do they do, you might ask yourself. As found on their website: 'Room to Read is creating a world free from illiteracy and gender inequality. We are achieving this goal by helping children in historically low-income communities develop literacy skills and a habit of reading, and by supporting girls as they build skills to succeed in school and negotiate key life decisions. We collaborate with governments and other partner organizations to deliver positive outcomes for children at scale.' As this year's CalsMUN will have fighting social inequalities as its grand theme, we have decided to focus the charity on fighting illiteracy and gender inequality. Room to Read envisions a world in which all children can pursue quality education that prepares them to lead fulfilled lives and make positive change — in their families, communities, and the world. We share this vision and therefore want to support this charity in the best way possible! We want to support this charity through making a donation, and you can help! If you want to join us in supporting this charity, you can donate money in your committee throughout the weekend. The committee with the highest contribution by the end of the weekend wins a special prize!
